The State University of New York at Stony Brook

Stony Brook's peaceful and leafy thousand-acre campus on New York's Long Island North Shore is about an hour from New York City, one of the world's most exciting locations and the center of world financial activity. Stony Brook is a highly sought destination for university students. The university is -

- Top 1 percent of the world's higher education institutions by the Times Higher Education World University Rankings
- One of the top 100 universities in the nation and one of the top 35 public universities by U.S.News & World Report
- One of the 30 best values in public colleges and universities by Kiplinger
- One of only 10 universities nationwide recognized by the National Science Foundation for combining research with undergraduate education
- A member of the prestigious Association of American Universities
- A National Merit Institution

98% of Stony Brook's teaching faculty hold doctoral degrees or the highest degrees in their fields, and Stony Brook faculty are responsible for more than 1,840 inventions and more than 500 U.S. patents.

The State University of New York, Korea (SUNY Korea)

SUNY Korea is established in March 2012 as the first American university established in Korea's only smart city, Songdo. It is also the first global campus of SUNY and Stony Brook University (SBU), which is one of the biggest and the most recognized university within SUNY, outside of U.S.A in an effort to provide global education to students. Every year, SUNY Korea continues to expand its program offerings in a variety of academic fields such as engineering, fashion, science, and more.

Currently, SUNY Korea is offering undergraduate and graduate degree programs in Computer Science, Mechanical Engineering and Technological Systems Management from Stony Brook University (SBU). These programs are operated in two countries, Korea and U.S.A. To provide the same quality of education, all programs are identical to that of SBU and taught by SBU faculty. Upon graduation, all students receive the same diploma issued by SBU.

It is required that students spend one year during their sophomore year at SBU in New York and three years in Songdo. This provides an opportunity for students to experience more diverse cultures and enables them to adapt to different environment which will make them more compatible in this fast growing global society.

To accommodate students from around the globe and to make their college life as the most memorable, we offer affordable on-campus housings, a wide variety of scholarships, and student activities. Students will also have opportunities to form a global network with students from other neighboring universities on the Incheon Global Campus.

At SUNY Korea, we cherish moral values and strive to teach our students to serve others with humility and moral integrity. Our graduates will be history makers and lead the way through changes to make this world a better place for everyone.
